Sealund and NAFTC Introduces Alternative Fuels to the General Public

The National Alternative Fuel Training Consortium partnered with Sealund to develop a blended learning overview course on alternative fuel. Sealund worked closely with NAFTC to create an exciting and instructional course on the different types of advanced technology vehicles. The course consisted of ten stand alone modules which included an instructor's manual, online learning, cartoons and dynamic animations geared towards the general public.

"...I am very pleased. This is excellent work...I congratulate the entire team for this effort!"

Engaging Online Learning

Two modules in the overview course incorporate online learning segments to engage the student in their learning experience. Sealund's creative team designed an automotive mechanic character named "Bill" who appears throughout the online learning and custom animations.

Dynamic Custom Animations

Sealund developed 25 custom animations that support and compliment the course content. These dynamic and innovative animations help reinforce the material presented by the instructor and make for a fun and interactive learning experience.
